

Gabe Hines is a professional abstract artist who has been painting in the Atlanta area for over 15 years.

Critically acclaimed as “Atlanta’s Best Visual Artist” (Creative Loafing), he has showcased work in multiple galleries throughout the Southeast, in addition to having his work in many private collections and commercial venues around the country.

Gabe has also been a successful collaborator with local interior designers, creating custom abstract paintings for commercial and residential spaces.

When Gabe is not painting, he can be found horsing around with his rambunctious 3-year-old daughter or creating Brian Eno-esque ambient music on his synthesizer.
